WM101: INTRODUCTION TO WORLD MISSIONS

I. COURSE DESCRIPTION
   A study of the biblical meaning and purpose of missions, missions agencies and instruments, and missions accomplishments, trends, needs, and possibilities.

II. COURSE OBJECTIVES
   I. Cognitive
      a. The student will understand the biblical, theological, and historical roots from which the modern missions movement has developed.
      b. The student will gain understanding into the dynamics of cross-cultural ministry and cultures, including the nature and importance of contextualization and globalization.
      c. The student will gain insight into practical matters related to missions, including strategic and personal lifestyle considerations.
      d. The student will be acquainted with literature relating to the world missionary enterprise.
      e. The student will have a strong base for further studies in cross-cultural issues.

   II. Affective
      a. The student will be motivated to advance the cause of world missions.
      b. The student will appreciate the significance of cultural dynamics and contextualization within today's global setting.
      c. The student will value the need to apply cross-cultural ministry principles to their lives and ministries.
      d. The student will further appreciate aspects of other varied cultures.

   III. Conative
      a. The student will be able to evaluate trends in missions and missions programs.
      b. The student will be able to articulate biblical and theological basis for missions.
      c. The student will be able to utilize basic cross-cultural practices.
      d. The student will process their personal role in God's global missions purpose.
III. COURSE TEXTBOOKS

A. Required

B. Suggested

IV. COURSE REQUIREMENTS

A. Reading (20%)

Students will read assigned sections of the textbooks and articles as indicated in this syllabus and in Canvas. It is recommended that students complete the reading prior attending the live onsite classes. In an attempt to distribute the reading throughout the semester, at times some reading assignments may not exactly correlate to the topics studied that week, yet the reading still should be comprehended to further facilitate the learning experience when considered elsewhere during the course. Some reading may be designated “Overview” suggesting that the student need only to be familiar with the content and not have to read the entire material in detail.

On occasion during the semester, the professor may substitute some of the reading with YouTube videos.

There will be two reading reports, both of which will be due in Canvas. The first reading report will be due the week of October 23rd for the reading up to that point in the semester, and the second will be due during the final week of class on December 11.

B. Nation/People-Group Prayer Assignment (10%)

Each student will lead a time of classroom prayer for a country or people group of their choosing. The prayer time should include a short (no more than 10 minutes) presentation of key prayer needs for the country. Students may use PowerPoint, handouts or other media to make the presentation. A copy of the student’s own notes or any media used will be submitted to the professor on the day the student leads in prayer. The grade will be based on the information presented and the clarity and effectiveness of the presentation. Operation World is a prime resource. There will be dates and times to choose for student presentations in class during the first day of class. Some mission databases with helpful information:

E. Written Assignments

1. Missio Dei Biblical Study (15%)

Each student will write a 3-5 page biblically focused paper on the focus of missions in the Bible with a particular focus on the mission Dei concept.
Please define this missiological concept, and then demonstrate how it is illustrated in one OT or one NT book. List and explain any principles and/or applications to carry out missions in the 21st Century. This assignment is due September 25th.

2. Missionary Biography (15%)
   Each student will write a 3-4 page review of the life and ministry of a missionary who ministered in a language and cultural setting different from their own. What were the defining characteristics of their life and ministry? What was the impact of their life? What personal insights and challenges do you glean from the study of their life? Include a bibliography of a total of at least 100 pages from one or more sources. For names of missionaries you might study, consult Ruth A. Tucker, From Jerusalem to Irian Jaya. This assignment is due October 9th.

3. Theological Issue (20%)
   Each student will write a 4-6 page paper with Turabian formatting on a theological issue informing and affecting the mission task of the church. This assignment is due December 4th. The paper should include an explanation of the issue and how it impacts the missions task, the biblical evidence, different views on the issue and the student’s position. Include a bibliography. Topics may include the following, thought other topics may be considered with the professor’s approval:
   - What is the role of the miraculous in missions?
   - What is the nature of demon possession and is it possible today?
   - What is the destiny of the unevangelized?
   - How do compassion and justice ministries fit in to the Great Commission?
   - What is open theism and its impact on evangelism and missions?
   - Is Allah of the Quran the same as the God of the Bible?
   - What is the role of spiritual warfare (including power encounter) in missions?
   - How should a missionary apply appropriate contextualization practices within a C1-C6 spectrum/setting?

4. International Friendship or Agape Project (20%)
   International Friendship: Present in Class in December, and Copy Due December 11th.
   i. The student will cultivate a friendship during the course of the semester with an international non-Christian who is outside the seminary environment and from a culture different than their own. At least two in-depth conversations (minimum of four hours) are required during which the student should learn about the international person’s home culture, including the place of Christianity in that culture, and perceived differences between the international’s home culture and North American culture.

The student will write a five-page report of what was learned during the conversations.

The paper will include the following elements:

a. An introduction of the person and the circumstances of the friendship, including the amount of time spent with the person and the setting in which you interacted (i.e. in person, via phone or e-mail, etc).

b. A description of the international’s home culture and perceived cultural differences with North Americans.

c. A discussion of perceived barriers or points of contact in the international person’s understanding of the Gospel and Christianity.

The professor will grade this assignment and assign it one of four rankings. DT administrators will use these rankings, in anonymous form, to measure the seminary’s performance on key objectives. The ranking may reflect your grade, but it does not determine your grade. The rankings are as follows:

a. Incomplete: The student did not establish a relationship with an international person and/or did not submit a complete report.

b. Completed but unacceptable: The student submitted a complete report that compares and contrasts the person’s worldview with the student’s own, but the relationship described is based primarily on recollections of past interactions (i.e. prior to current semester) or current interactions that occurred via e-mail or phone (i.e. not in person). Reporting on a relationship with a person within the seminary environment, or a person who shares your own home culture, may also result in an “unacceptable” ranking.

c. Completed and acceptable: The student submitted a complete report that compares and contrasts the person’s worldview with the student’s own, and the relationship described is based on current, in-depth conversations that occurred in person and at one time (i.e. two in-depth conversations in one day or one weekend).
d. Completed and outstanding: The student submitted a complete report that compares and contrasts the person’s worldview with the student’s own, and the relationship described is based on current, in-depth conversations that occurred in person and at two or more meetings spread throughout the semester.

Tips: “How to Meet an International Non-believer”
• Ask an international believer to introduce you to an international non-believer. You can meet an international believer at one of many Chinese, Korean, Hispanic and other ethnic churches in your area.
• You can volunteer to serve internationals through ministries such as English lessons or outreach to international students.

Agape Project:
Agape Assignment Requirements:
The professor of this course has identified an assignment that can be completed for Agape Project credit. In order to meet the requirements of an Agape assignment, the student must do the following:

Service in the Community
For the purposes of this assignment service must be relational, face-to-face (not an administrative role or a “packing boxes” type of role). The ministry should emphasize compassionate care for people whose needs are apparent, or even profound.

A compassion ministry may consist of serving any of the following people groups: single parents, orphans, immigrants, disabled, senior adults, hospital patients, extended care residents, mentally challenged individuals, homeless, marginalized people groups, etc. Any questions about qualifying service can be directed to Aaron Switzer, Associate Director of the Agape Project.

aswitzer@dts.edu or 214.887.5395
You must have the approval of the Associate Director before you begin your service.

The student spends a minimum of 15 hours serving over the course of the semester.
These hours are to be spread out (approximately 1-2 hours per week), not together in large blocks of time (not just in one weekend). Spreading out the hours allows more consistent relationship-building.

Reflection
The student will write a five page reflection paper. Reflection is a significant part of the learning process. Prompts for the paper are the same as above.
Online resources

http://www.dts.edu/departments/academic/agapeproject/ministrydirectory/

There is an online directory under “Ministry Directory” if you need help finding a place to serve.

https://online.dts.edu/

The Agape Project Canvas course is only used by ThM students who entered, or reclassified, during or after Fall 2015. These same ThM students must complete all tasks in Canvas in order to receive Agape Project credit.

Format: All papers will be written following standard DTS form and will include footnotes and a bibliography. See A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, by Kate L. Turabian et al.

B. Class Participation

The course follows the lecture/discussion method. Therefore, students will regularly attend and participate in classes whether through online video sessions, interactions, and/or live class sessions.

C. Late Assignments

Assignments received after the due date will be penalized by subtracting five numerical points from the grade for every day late. All work in these courses must be submitted by the final due date specified in the syllabus (see Section VII below). The professor cannot extend deadlines beyond this time. Additional time to complete course work may be granted only by the Credits Committee as stipulated in the DTS Student Handbook 2018-19, section 1.20.

D. Absences

Class attendance requirements will follow seminary guidelines as found in the DTS Student Handbook 2018-2019, section 1.14.3.

E. Plagiarism

Plagiarism rules will follow seminary guidelines as found in the Dallas Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook 1.17.1. Book reports and other papers are routinely checked against online reviews and articles. Please do not let pressures of time or linguistic expression tempt you to use any sources without fully citing them.
F. Assignment Submission Procedures
Students should submit all completed assignments online through Canvas. Each student will write his/her name, box number, course number and name, and professor’s name on all assignments.

VI. COURSE SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION
DTS does not discriminate on the basis of disability in the operation of any of its programs and activities. To avoid discrimination the student is responsible for informing the Coordinator of Services for Students with Disabilities and the course instructor of any disabling condition that will require modifications.
