Hypothesis Annotation Assignment

Each assignment is out of 6 points and each has two components. You are required to do five of these assignments during the quarter, which make up 35% of your final grade.

Part 1: A complete Sunday/Tuesday annotation submission includes:
Eight annotations about a different passage from the text(s) included in your chosen module.
These should be made via Hypothesis in the “Module” section of Canvas. – 4 points

- 2 summarizations of a key point from a passage in the reading, written in your own words
- 2 comments on specific passages from the reading – examples of what constitutes a comment include:
  - something the passage made you think of with an explanation of the connections between the two
  - your interpretation of the meaning of the chosen passage
  - whether you agree or disagree with the passage and an explanation of why
- 2 questions you have about a specific passage
- 2 identifications of key concepts/terms/frameworks from the reading and an explanation of how each connects to our course

Part 2: A complete Monday/Wednesday response includes:
Two comments responding to the annotations made by other students in our class who worked with the readings from your chosen module. – 2 points

- Two responses are required. These can be responses to/comments on/reflections about/an extension of 2 annotations made by your classmates (these can be responding to two annotations from the same student, but your comments need to be responding to two different annotations made by that student).

If you have more than one reading in your module, you must include annotate each reading at least once (in other words, you must engage with all of the readings in your chosen module).

For example, for Week 9’s Thursday class, you are asked to annotate Patrice Lumumba, “Speech at Leopoldville”; The Fifth Pan-African Congress, “Resolutions, 1945”; The All-African People’s Conference, “Resolutions on Imperialism and Colonialism, 1958”; and Bibi Titi Mohammed, “Travel for TANU, 1958.” In order to fulfill the assignment requirements, you could: ask one question about Lumumba’s speech, comment on one passage in Lumumba’s speech, ask one question about the Fifth Pan-African Congress’ resolutions, summarize one passage from The Fifth Pan-African Congress’ resolutions, identify one key concept from the All-African People’s Conference resolutions, comment on one passage from Mohammed’s speech, summarize one passage from Mohammed’s speech, and identify one key concept from Mohammed’s speech.
