

BC5310 COUNSELING PRACTICUM II SYLLABUS

I. COURSE DESCRIPTION

A course designed as a continuation of Practicum I with greater emphasis on comprehensive clinical definition carefully written in accordance with the standards of the profession. Students present a minimum of three video taped counseling experiences, supplemented with a written treatment plan and case summary.

II. COURSE OBJECTIVES

The course is designed in a group discussion format to provide students with opportunities to ask questions, share personal observations and experiences and learn from others while receiving direct instruction to help them develop their counseling skills. The class will focus on:

1. Developing awareness and discernment capabilities in counseling cases by applying basic therapy skills and treatment strategies, such as assessment, diagnosis, goal setting, and treatment planning.
2. Integrating and applying counseling theories and techniques while gaining practical experience in providing therapy at off-campus practicum sites.
3. Challenging students to approach the counseling process from different perspectives as the dynamics of counseling cases are analyzed.
4. Facilitating personal growth and maturity (in spiritual as well as professional aspects) as the student counselors are encouraged to explore personal reactions to the clients and issues presented.
