HEBREW EXEGESIS AND
OLD TESTAMENT INTRODUCTION I

COURSE SYLLABUS

COURSE DESCRIPTION

An introduction to the exegesis of Hebrew narrative, including an introduction to textual criticism, as well as a review of Hebrew morphology and syntax in conjunction with translation of the Book of Ruth. The course will also include a survey of the historical, cultural, literary, and theological backgrounds of the Old Testament and an introduction to various forms of Old Testament criticism.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Cognitive Objectives. In addition to reviewing matters introduced in OT5102, this course is designed to introduce you to an exegetical process for interpreting Old Testament narrative literature. For a more detailed discussion of the significance of this portion of the course, see Chisholm, From Exegesis to Exposition, pp. 7-12 (see Course Textbooks: Required Texts below). The course will also introduce the student to the historical, cultural, literary, and theological background of the Old Testament.

Affective Objectives. Beyond the cognitive goals outlined above, my hope is that you will (1) gain greater facility and confidence in reading and analyzing biblical Hebrew, (2) gain a greater appreciation for the importance of doing exegesis in the original text of Scripture, (3) gain confidence in your ability to think through interpretive issues, and (4) gain appreciation for the importance of understanding the backgrounds as a foundation for interpreting the Old Testament.

COURSE TEXTBOOKS

Required Texts

Chisholm, Robert. A Commentary on Ruth. (posted on course website)

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Proficiency Exam

On the second class of the semester, there will be a 30-minute proficiency exam, consisting of three parts. You will be asked to (1) reproduce five forms drawn from the following Qal strong/regular verb paradigms: perfect conjugation of any person, gender, and number (PGN); imperfect conjugation of any PGN; imperative masculine singular; infinitive construct; active participle masculine singular, (2) parse ten verbs from the Book of Jonah (excluding Jonah 2), and (3) translate two sentences from the Book of Jonah (excluding Jonah 2).

If you score 86 or above on the exam, your final course grade will be raised as follows: two points for a grade in the A range (94-100), one point for a grade in the B range (86-93). If you fail to score 70% on this exam, you will be required to meet with a department approved tutor until you have passed a makeup exam. The makeup exam cannot be taken until you have spent at least four hours working with a tutor. Failure to complete this exam will result in the course grade being lowered by one letter grade.

Reading Assignments and Reading Log

You are to complete the reading assignments in accordance with the Course Lectures and Assignments Schedule below. All assignments must be completed by the beginning of the class period they are due. Completion of the reading accounts for 10% of the final grade. It is your responsibility to keep track of the weekly reading. At the end of the semester, you will submit a reading log that will let the professor know what percentage of the reading you completed on time for the entire semester. The reading log only needs to state, “I completed X% of the reading on time this semester.” Percentages are calculated on the basis of total number of pages assigned to be read.

Written Assignments

You are to do the following written assignments:
(1) For the Ruth assignments, you must do (a) 50% of the questions for step two and (b) step three in its entirety. You need not do steps one and four. Please check your answers for step two with the answers provided in the teacher’s guide in the workbook and note errors and corrections in red. Though these assignments are not graded, per se, completing the written assignments on time accounts for 10% of the semester grade. Although the assignments will not receive a numerical grade for accuracy, it is important that you do them properly in order to master the material and to prepare for the exams. On the same sheet as the Reading log, you can submit a homework log that lets the professor know what percentage of the Ruth assignments you completed on time this semester. The homework log only needs to say, “I completed X% of the homework on times this semester.” Percentages are based off the total number of questions assigned each week. You will need to keep track of how many questions you did not complete each week to give an accurate percentage of your homework completion. Students should come to class prepared to do the following for each verse assigned in the workbook: (a) correctly pronounce the verse in Hebrew (b) correctly translate the verse into English without the aid of an English translation (c) correctly parse any verbal forms in the verse and (d) be able to answer basic syntactical questions from each verse.

(2) You must complete a text-critical assignment (see the supplemental handout for instructions). This assignment will count 15% of the course grade.

(3) You must complete the exegetical assignment on Ruth (see the supplemental handout for instructions). This assignment will count 15% of the course grade.

Exams on Ruth

There will be two exams over the Book of Ruth, covering the material in the workbook on Ruth and in Brotzman’s discussion of the text-critical apparatus of Ruth.

The first exam will cover Ruth 1-2 and count for 20% of the course grade. This exam will require translation of selected passages with accompanying parsing, syntax, and text-critical questions. You may use the Ruth glossary from the workbook, From Exegesis to Exposition, and Brotzman’s English key to BHS.

The second exam will cover Ruth 3-4 and count for 20% of the course grade. This exam will require translation of selected passages with accompanying parsing, syntax, and text-critical questions. You may use the Ruth glossary from the workbook, From Exegesis to Exposition, and Brotzman’s English key to BHS.

Exam on History of Israel

You will take an exam on Important Names, Dates and Events in Israel’s History. See the study sheet posted on the course website. The grade on this exam will count 10% of the course grade.
Dallas Theological Seminary works to provide reasonable and appropriate accommodations to students with psychological, medical, physical, and learning disabilities. A student desiring or needing accommodations on the basis of such disabilities or of medical incidents such as hospitalization or severe injury is to contact the Director of Services for Students with Disabilities (https://students.dts.edu/studentlife/disability-services/). If the student is aware of a condition that may impact his/her studies, the student should contact the Director of Services for Students with Disabilities at prior to the beginning of the semester or at the onset of a crisis.

COURSE POLICIES

Be aware of the seminary’s policy regarding plagiarism (see the latest edition of the Student Handbook). If you need further clarification on what constitutes plagiarism, please see me privately. Note carefully that plagiarism is not just quoting someone without giving credit; it can also take the form of stealing another’s ideas without giving them their due.

You may not consult with other students or look at their work when doing the assignments. Something can be said for the benefits of teamwork, but in a ministry context, which we are attempting to simulate, you may not have the opportunity to consult with others when studying for your next sermon or lesson. You must develop a certain degree of independence in your research and work. However, you may consult commentaries and other published works when doing the assignments, except for sources specifically prohibited for certain assignments. It should go without saying that you may not consult the work of students who have already had the course.

When doing the various assignments remember this is graduate school. All questions should be answered in complete sentences (not with a mere “yes” or “no”) and every assertion must be supported (even if the question does not specifically say “explain”). Some questions are supplemented by leading questions that are designed to help you answer the main question. However, this is not always the case. In other instances, you will need to use logic and common sense to determine what steps are necessary to solve a problem.

Classes where we are scheduled to go over written assignments may not be recorded, with the exception of the workbook assignments on Ruth.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADING

Text criticism assignment 15%
Exam on Ruth 1-2 20%
Exam on Ruth 3-4 20%
Exam on history of Israel 10%
Exegetical assignment on Ruth 15%
Weekly reading 10%
Weekly homework 10%

*Excessive absences and handing in written assignments late can affect one’s grade negatively. See the policies stated below under the headings Late Assignments and Absences, respectively.

CLASS PARTICIPATION

Students are encouraged to participate in the class discussion. However, try to make your questions/comments concise and to the point. Please do not use valuable class time with questions/comments that are not directly applicable to the issue being discussed.

LATE ASSIGNMENTS

All assignments should be submitted by the beginning of the class session for which they are due. If a paper is submitted late, it will be penalized one full grade increment (for example, B+ to C+) for each day it is late. If the paper is completed by class time, you may email it to the professor prior to the beginning of class, in which case it will be considered on time.

ABSENCES

Four unexcused absences are allowed without penalty. Please note that we meet once a week, so each day we meet counts as two class periods. Each unexcused absence beyond this number will result in a reduction of the final grade in accordance with the student handbook policy. If a prolonged illness keeps you from attending class, or work and ministry responsibilities conflict with the scheduling of this course, you should drop the course and take it at a more convenient time. You will be charged with an absence for every three classes you are late. You are officially late if you enter the classroom five or more minutes after the class officially begins.
